County Officer's Salaries

Fees Returned to Treasury.

The first year under the new law of turning in fees to the County treasury and receiving a stated sum as salary has passed. We have published the amount of fees turned in quarterly—except the year of sheriff, which we now give for the year at this time.

Register of Probate, A. D. Park, fees for the year were $172.50. His former pay was $800 per year and fees and the year's would have amounted $972.50, hence the new law increased his receipts for service $790.00.

The Western Registry district, Eckley Ballard, Fryeburg, paid to the treasury $890.70 and received $450 as salary. Thus the new law increased his salary $59.30.

The Eastern Registry, J. Hastings Bean, did a business that footed to $1899.26, which lack of $6.74 of equaling the salary, $1906, he drew for himself and clerk.

The first year shows the adjustment of salaries, for these three offices, to be an increase of $94.04. It proves the statement made by us 17 months ago, that the salaries of our county officers had been increased. These three offices were the unknown quantity. It is now known to be an increase, though not as large in proportion as was given all the other county officers, except the Clerk of Courts and Treasurer where no change was made.

The Clerk of Courts, Judge C. F. Whitman, whose pay was not affected by this recent law turned in as fees $387.55.

The fees as returned to County Treasurer Atwood for the quarter ending July 30th are as follows:

By B. G. MCINTIRE, SHERIFF
Dec. 28, '05, Fees in A. C. Bean and G. W. Poole case	$2.96
There are several unsettled cases now in court which when settled will increase the amount of fees from this office.

The County Commissioners have allowed expenses of the different officers for money paid out in attending to official business as follows:

Judge of Probate expenses holding Courts at Rumford Falls and Fryeburg, $324.24; Register of Probate expenses at Fryeburg, $29.38; County Attorney expenses, $29.38; Sheriff's expenses, $29.38; and an estimated bill to June 30 of $14.25, making a total of $456.64.

Sheriff has had expenses paid for one car and telegraphing cartage and freight on horses.

This shows what the offices have above the salary allowed by Statute. The above is for money paid out and expense on official business away from the Court House.

It is the practice in this county and we presume it prevails throughout the State and at the Augusta Capitol to furnish everything necessary in the several offices, such as pens, ink, pencils, paper, etc., postage stamps for official use and type writing machines were needed and to each officer a copy of the Maine Register and a pocket book and diary.

It is true that the office holding family at the Court House prefer the former system. It is of less bother to them and they can get more fees where their income depends on it than they can get for the county treasury.

The Register of Probate and Clerk of Courts says many who have business with them would be willing to pay the fee to them personally as a salary, but when the fee is to go to the county they do the work themselves and get them to attest it for which 25 cents is paid, whereas they would not have "the gut" to do this if the fee was going to them as their pay. In many instances only 25 cents is now paid where in years past the same work was productive of $1.25 to $2.50 to the officers as part of their salary. This prevails largely in these two offices and accounts for the small amount turned over to the treasurer.

In the Clerk of Courts office where settlement of cases are made in court time the whole amount is turned over to the treasurer in a lump sum, who receipts for it on the docket, therefore no fees appear as credits to the office.

Below is a statement of the salaries "before and after" the acts of the last legislation when our county delegation advised a thousand dollars increase in salaries over the amount recommended by the State Joint committee and they got it too regardless of what was said in this paper.

Register of Probate $750. The old schedule $500. Increase $250. Salary drawn hence from treasury $500. Eastern Registry. Fees returned $1500. Salary and clerk hire $1500. From treasury $750. County Attorney $600. Old schedule $350. Increase $250 by last legislation.

County Commissioners, former estimated expense of the board $366 a year. Allowed by last legislation $1000. An increase here of $534 Sheriff in years past got $300 and fees but now he gets $1100 and no fees—but must provide a keeper of the jail.

It's easy figuring to see that by doing away with the fee system increases the expense of the tax payer about $1,100 in say nothing about the salary of the sheriff which was raised from $300 and fees to $1,100. We feel safe in saying that here is an increase from $600 to $900 more than in years past. It is stating it fairly to say that the salaries of the county officers have been increased about $2000 per year by the act of the last legislature in abolishing the obnoxious "fee system."

OXFORD.

Oxford Wins 5 to 2. The Oxford base ball team easily defeated the invincible Bryant's Pond team, Saturday, by a score of 5 to 2. The visitors were very strong in the field but their inability to hit Adams safely when men were on bases kept them in the mud. The home team pitched good ball but was hit freely at the right time. It would have been a neat shut-out for Oxford only for the third baseman making two wild throws to first allowing two men to score. Saturday, July 14, Oxford will play the strong team of Sabattus. A good game is expected as the latter team has a very fine record. Game called at 3 p. m. Following is the score:

Dame Brechbuechle Receives the Communion after Thirty-five Years Deprivation.

For the first time in thirty-five years, Madame Anna M. Brechbuechle, the aged mother of Mrs. Albert G. Hill of Winter street last Sunday received the Holy Communion at the Episcopal Mission, Christ Church, on Paris street.

It was a great event in the aged woman's life, as churches will readily realize. Mme. Brechbuechle is a native of Switzerland. For thirty-five years she had been living in a village in the Province of Quebec, Canada, where there were no ministrations of the church in which she had been reared as a Swiss maiden. About a month since she came to make her home in Norway, with Mrs. Hill, who is an adopted daughter and is glad to return in kind the affectionate care and attention she received in her childhood.

Mme. Brechbuechle was rejoiced to find here an opportunity once more to approach the altar. After devout preparation in the morning of last Sunday, she was driven to the church. For a religious duty had been attending the service. It must be borne in mind that Mrs. Brechbuechle speaks no English, French and German are strangely combined in her speech, as indeed they are in the spelling of her name and in her appearance. One is not quite sure whether to address her as "Frau" or "Madame."

Of course she could understand little of the English service, but could follow its progress with the eye rather than the ear. To one acquainted with the circumstances the scene was striking when she advanced to the chancel rail with considerable difficulty, but gently assisted. At the suggestion of Archbishop Seymour, who was celebrating the sacrament, the deacon assisting hastened down, offering to bring the sacrament to the devout woman in her place. But she preferred to receive in the chancel—a privilege denied her for nearly two score years.

It was a touching incident, full of local color and the thrill of human interest. And the tranquillity of the aged woman, after availing herself of a privilege postponed so long and so highly valued, was beautiful to contemplate.

Crack Yankee Whittier. In his spare moments Warren Brooks of West Paris has whittled a dog house.

It was a present to Mrs. Albert R. Ror. and was designed for Jumbo, her pet terrier. The house is two by three feet, with all the fancy decorations any Yankee dog could possibly desire. There, by the way, is a dog house on the roof. The entire house was built with a pocket knife and a hammer.

There is a front door with an elaborate latch, an ingenious chain across the front that is suggestive of the use of the unique little house, a fancy weather vane and a flagpole from which fly the American colors.

Mr. Brooks is a typical New England whittier, and watch chains, canes, sleds, etc., are not the least of his accomplishments.

Fred Brown of Portland was in town over Sunday.

James W. Bancroft of Mechanic Falls was in Norway, Monday.

Make hay when the sun shines, and let it grow when it rains.

Mrs. John H. Fletcher and her two little sons are at Canada to spend the summer, as is their usual custom.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Fuller are having a small shop erected on the old grist mill lot, just below the office of the Bridgton Laundry. The shop will be used as a candy and fruit store when completed.

Mrs. Albro Chase of Portland and Mrs. Edward N. Chase of Concord, Mass., were in town last week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Q. Elliott. They spent the fourth at Mr. Elliott's cottage at North Norway.

Fred Pike, Vern Rich, Walter Cullinan, Carl Boynton, James Tubbs and Dr. Thor, visited Mr. F. Q. Elliott, Sunday. It was a fine clear day for sight-seeing, though rather too warm for the walk up the mountain.

Don C. Seitz of New York returned from a very pleasant six weeks' trip to Europe, the last day of June. He is on his way to his summer home in the Adirondacks, where he can enjoy a ride on the Norway & Western rail road.

There is a complaint that the boys who go in bathing near the boat houses, go into the houses and do malicious mischief. Warning notices have been posted, and if they still persist in their way of action, they will answer for their ways before the honorable justices of our courts.

Smith-Vinal.

At noon, Tuesday, July 3, Union church, Vinalhaven, was the scene of an especially interesting occasion when occurred the wedding of Albra Josephine Vinal and Mark Pool Smith.

The church was finely decorated with evergreen and marguerites, supplemented by ferns and foliage plants artistically arranged, and formed an effective setting for the bridal group. The ceremony was performed before a bridal arch of evergreen and marguerites from which was suspended a large wedding veil, by Rev. I. E. Lidstone, the ring service being used.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Vinal Boman as matron of honor, and a quartette of bridesmaids. The groom was attended by a Bowdoin college friend, Dr. Charles L. Cragin of Portland, as best man.

The bride was robed in a handsome ivory gown of venetian lace over ivory silk train. She wore a tulle veil fastened with a diamond clip and white roses and carried a silver bouquet of bride roses. The only ornament worn was a gold chain and roman cross set with a pearl, the gift of the groom. The bride's favors to her attendants were costly wild plums.

After the ceremony the bridal party retired to the home of the bride and made merry for a brief season.

The bride doffed her wedding gown for a handsome traveling suit of maroon silk, and the couple left on the noon boat for a sojourn of two weeks at the Green Dragon camp, the summer home of the Smiths at Oxford.

Their departure was attended by the usual demonstrations which are lov-

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham: Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had a female trouble and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The doctor, after examining me, said the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well.

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself; try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ing friends are prone to inflict on a newly wedded pair. At the wharf another large gathering had assembled for an informal reception, and the Vintharney band rendered the strains until the steamer was well out in the bay, while the bride stood on deck graciously throwing kisses and waving farewell. The bride is a young lady of marked abilities and winning personality, and in the social and musical circles she was very prominent. She has attended the Boston Conservatory.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin B. Vinal and a descendant of one of the first families associated with the history of the town.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Smith. Mr. Smith is the well-known cashier of the Norway National bank, Norway.

The groom was a student at Bowdoin college but discontinued his studies to enter Shaw's Business College, of which he is a graduate. For the past eight years he has held a position of trust and responsibility with the L. C. Chase Co. Boston.

Both bride and groom are graduates of the class of 1897 Vinalhaven and Norway high schools respectively.

The popularity of the couple resulted in an avalanche of china, cut glass, silver and hand embroidered linen and of the history of the town.

The list also included a miscellany of articles useful and ornamental, costly and the handwork of love; all of which will be given an honored place and grace the new home at Holt street, Waverly, Mass., where Mr. Smith will take his bride to reside.

Home-Grown Meats.

If you do not like the odor that has recently been given to the Chicago dressed meats, it is a favorable time to encourage the production and slaughter of meats produced near where they are wanted.

Now is the time to begin a reform in this condition of the meat supply. If the demand is made for meats of nearby slaughter, and the long-dressed Chicago meats, sold at a high price, with inferior flavors, are rejected, the animals for slaughter would soon increase among us, and the supply be forthcoming in the full measure demanded to meet the call.

Now is a favorable time to start such a movement. Call for home-dressed meats, and take no other. With such a call started, it would not be long before the slaughtering establishments of the East, now long closed, would again be open, and consumers be supplied with meats in their natural juices, and free from the suspicion of preservatives, and not damaged by long-distance transportation. It is quite time for the demand for pure, sweet and healthful home-grown and nearby slaughtered meats to be made. Recent disclosures should hasten the movement.

Maine State Sanatorium.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Maine State Sanatorium it was voted to erect a new building at Hebron, as soon as possible, to accommodate 24 patients.

The plan was to reconstruct the farm buildings. The following trustees were elected: Hiram Ricker, Poland Springs, Dr. S. H. Weeks, Portland, Dr. Estes Nichols, Hebron.

"Seasickness is a curious trouble," says a physician. "It is probably due to the disturbance caused by the motion of the ship to the little organs that govern the sense of equilibrium. In the inner ear are three little semi-circular canals. In movement in any plane the fluid in these canals disturbs, and telegraphs the sensation to the brain, which is then able to control the balance of the apparatus of the canal system. It is, it is suggested, thrown out of gear, and wildly telegraphs wrong messages to the brain. And that portion of the brain is intimately connected with the nerve that controls the happenings in the region whence the trouble arises. The whole system, in brief, is short-circuited."

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.
How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water, effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go outdoors during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When you write mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

A Brilliant Pansy Bed.
My neighbor has a pansy bed which is much admired. It is a large round bed out in the center of the side lawn where the sun kisses it all day long, and it looks as though a rainbow had been spilled on that particular spot so brilliant is the coloring. You see nothing of the green leaves the flowers are so numerous. "Do you pick the blossoms every day?" I asked.
"No," she said, "only the seed pods; everyone who passes can enjoy them now. If I picked them they would give pleasure to but few."
She made the bed and sowed the seed last August. They did not blossom any last year and when November came she covered the bed with a light covering of straw, and later above the straw she spread some old rag carpet. This spring when the covering was removed the plants were nice and thrifty. Every night she sprays them with water, picking off the seed pods, excepting a few she wishes to ripen.

This year she contemplates sowing another bed, as she says these plants will be too old another year. This fall she will pull up all the old plants and if enough have self sown, will cover the bed as she did last year.

Writing Business Letters.
Where Many Writers Fail-The Fault of Poor Manners.
"I know," said a business man of wide experience, "how crowded with studies the schools are now, and I should be loth to recommend the introduction of any new ones; but I wish who are giving time to so many little facts could be induced to give more to the art of writing letters."
He did not refer to the mere art of writing correct English or the art of writing an interpretation of really good business letters in which the matter in hand should be treated not only clearly and concisely, but also courteously.

The need he mentioned is one which is felt by thousands of business men and may well claim the attention of young people of both sexes who look forward to business life. The ability to write intelligently is not rare, but the capacity to write in such a way as to produce a pleasant personal feeling for the other man is extremely rare.
Many writers fail in the matter of courtesy—either in the way of omission of articles and constant abbreviation, or, more commonly, in neglecting to give the other man the full name, with doubt. In other words the fault with most business letters is a fault of poor manners rather than of mental deficiency.
In any circumstances, allow your first letter, in a case of difference, to be harsh or discourteous," said a business man to one of his clerks. "No matter how much you think the man has injured us, give him the benefit of the doubt. Assume that he has made a mistake rather than that he has misrepresented. To take the other course is to enter a blind alley. You may have to turn around to get out of it."

GREENWOOD.
Albert Bryant and Aubrey Miller have got through working for Aaron Cox.
Freeland Herriock had peon and new potatoes out of his garden, Sunday, the 5th.
Hannah Bryant from South Woodstock, is stopping with Lottie Cox for a while.
Quite a number from this place attended the celebration, July 4th, at West Paris.
Charlie Cox and Arthur Cox were the guests of their brother, Aaron Cox, over Sunday.
Freeland Herriock and Aaron Cox have been working for Walter Penley on the farm, for a few days.
Work has commenced on the new schoolhouse in the Martin district so called. The job of work would have been nearly completed by this time had not some one discovered a little informality in the proceedings, thus making it necessary to call another town meeting.

Improved the Farms.
Many farms could be improved to sell in the future for from $500 to $1,000 more than the present value by making improvements, the expense of which would hardly be felt at all.
Trees in the right place are always a good investment and cost next to nothing but the trouble of planting them. The city buyer is quite captivated to find one or two thrifty elms in front of the homestead, and a number of scattered chestnut, shellbark and sugar maple trees in the pastures; while any buyer, however practical, will pay more for a farm with a promising fruit orchard. Almost anything can be bought to order except full-grown trees, and the farm seeker is aware of the fact.
The selling value of the farm is greatly increased by keeping things in good repair. Begin with the front yard by fencing out the chickens, mowing the grass, and cutting it three or four times a year instead of once. Repair the fences and keep down all straggling bushes. If the buildings are not kept neat and in good repair the place always looks run-down and is, therefore, hard to sell.
It has been found when good roads are built that the value of all farms in the section has increased. Hence it will pay for the farmer to acquire good State roads, and to keep the roads on his own farm in good working condition.

In general, the farmer who wishes to increase the value of his property should put himself in the place of the probable buyer, and ask himself what changes would make the place more desirable. It often happens that a small change, like draining a wet spot, or moving an outhouse, or repairing a bridge, will change the whole impression made by the first sight of the place. Indeed, when the work of home improvement is once begun the owner is so interested that his anxiety to sell at all is much decreased.

Virgin Bros. of Rumford Falls have purchased the old coat factory in Meigs, Maine, and it is understood that the building will be run down and a glass factory will be erected on what was formerly the Virgin plant, previously purchased by the Virgin Bros., situated near the Portland & Rumford Falls railway.
It is now considered that Geo. Stowell of Dixfield, who was badly burned by the explosion of powder while celebrating the fourth, will not lose the sight of his eyes as was at first reported. His face was very badly burned, however, and an eye specialist has been summoned from Portland.
Two fires in Rumford Falls the 4th. George Gagne's house in Ridgelyville, lost $2500; insured for $1300. Edward A. Allen's house on Congress street, lost $5000; insured.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Farrington of Lovell Center were in Norway Friday. They are the owners of the Lake View house near Lake Kezar, a very pleasant home for summer people.

Two Envelopes, the Style.
A girl in town, who recently complained that her letter paper of finest quality from a stationer of note showed the writing through the envelope, did not know that the latest notion is to put within the envelope a second colored one.
These linings are of red, or a soft shade of turquoise blue, or of violet, and show through the paper just enough, to hint at the color inside without seeming bizarre, as strong colors used with stationery usually do.
There's no color about the paper itself. It is only the envelope which needs to be made opaque, and these color linings accomplish the purpose most successfully.

The quaintest thing about some of them is the way the inner envelope slips in and out of place, while others have the lining made up with the outside, the color, perhaps, showing where the edges lay. A little arrangement at one corner—an extension of the same color as the lining—is for the purpose of tearing the envelope open quickly.
New monograms are smaller, the newest, most popular of all being a heavy circle—hardly bigger round than the usual pencil is—with the initials done in short, broad letters, mounted, where there are only two, one upon the other, both of them stretching out to touch the circle on each side.
"Never, in any circumstances, allow your first letter, in a case of difference, to be harsh or discourteous," said a business man to one of his clerks. "No matter how much you think the man has injured us, give him the benefit of the doubt. Assume that he has made a mistake rather than that he has misrepresented. To take the other course is to enter a blind alley. You may have to turn around to get out of it."

Interesting Fireplace.
One of the most interesting points in the Rangeley lake region is the new camp recently designed by John E. Stephens of Rumford Falls, which contains the most original and the most unique fireplace of the entire region. Three rows of brick top the fireplace, and give a symmetrical line at the mantel.
Down each side of the fireplace are two single rows of brick, and between these two rows are smooth pebbles from Egypt Beach, Mass., laid in cement. The arch is also outlined with two rows of brick, and in the space beneath the arch and the mantel are rare and curious specimens of rocks, gems and other curios. In the center of the space is a piece of onyx from McFarlane, which is oval in shape and polished and beveled like a mirror.
Around this, disposed with an eye for effect and luxuriance, are various specimens of granite, quartz crystals, tourmalines from the several mines in Maine and elsewhere, the collection including a piece of granite from Morro Castle, Cuba.
There are also numerous specimens of iron pyrites, and quartz from Mt. Gilman, the gold mine of Roxbury. Fossil shells from Alleghany, lava rock from Mt. Ararat, and some quartz from Mt. Mica, which, if clear, would be very valuable for the quartz balls dear to the Japanese heart.

Artistically placed among the specimens are black tourmalines, black diamonds, garnets, hand-made specimens of green tinted beryls, and prominent in the geological collection are also some bits from the world of natural history, including sharks' teeth and Indian relics, such as arrow heads, mortar, chisel and similar tools.
These are the harvest of personal trips by Mr. Stephens, and souvenirs sent to him, and many are interested and curious. The camp is visited by many strangers, who have heard of its beauty and its interest, and many cameras are leveled at it.

At "Nigger Tom."
Hastings and vicinity has this interesting history. The civil war, a negro who was owned by a rich southern planter, escaped from his master, and by means of the underground railway came to this section of Maine, then a gigantic wilderness. Up by the northern border he found a valley that promised peace and contentment. Gilead was the nearest settlement, some eight miles distant, but Negro Tom, as the settlers called him, was frightened at the approach of civilization. Rumors that he had immense sums of gold secreted about his house drew many people to the little valley.
One day, when the war was at its height, a stranger appeared at Negro Tom's cabin and told Tom stories that increased his fear of the danger of capture by the slaveholders. He was thoroughly frightened, and readily agreed to giving up his farm in return for being helped over the Canadian border. With his gold wrapped in a large red handkerchief, the negro stole through the woods for Canada. There ends his history. No one in the little valley has ever heard from the ex-slave.

We were interested in the account of the new motor car made for a Boston millionaire, which is equipped with a cook stove and dining table, a combination bed and bureau and other conveniences which makes it a veritable hotel on wheels. This is certainly a great device and ought to prove popular. Now when the millionaire gets stalled on the road, he can proceed, to make himself thoroughly at home, instead of having to walk back.

The world-famous tourmaline mine at Mount Mica is still yielding its fruits. A large pocket was opened recently, and was found well-filled with green tourmaline lines of good color and a few of good size. This is certainly an excellent beginning for the present season. Last summer was a fruitless one, no pockets having been discovered during the entire summer's operations on the ledge.
Keep Still.
When trouble is brewing, keep still. When slander is getting off his legs, keep still. When your feelings are hurt, keep still, till you recover from your excitement. In all these things, look differently through an untroubled eye. In a commotion, once, I wrote a letter and sent it, and wished I had not.
In my later years I had another commotion, and wrote a long letter, but I rubbed a little sense into me and I kept that letter in my pocket against the day when I could look it over without agitation and without tears. I was glad I did. Less and less it seemed necessary to send it. I was not sure it would do any hurt, but in my doubtfulness, I leaned to reticence, and eventually it was destroyed. Time works wonders. You speak calmly, and then you will not need to speak, maybe. Silence is the most massive thing conceivable, sometimes. It is strength in very grandeur.

WEST PARIS.

The Day We Celebrate.

July 14th, although damp and cloudy in the morning, was well enjoyed by a good crowd who joined with us in the sports of the day. Many were disappointed who planned to be present if the weather had been fair.

The program was carried out as arranged though somewhat delayed, everything going smoothly with R. T. Flavin as chairman of committee of management. At the flag raising H. G. Brown made a few remarks and announced the program. There was singing of patriotic airs by a male quartet and remarks by Rev. Thos. Whiteside and the flag raised amid hearty cheers by the people after which the band played The Star Spangled Banner.

The parade of eight or ten decorated and "horrible" teams passed through the principal streets before noon and the prizes were awarded as follows:

Yankee Doodle Girl. Decorated fancy hitch, driven by Mrs. F. S. Farnum, 1st prize.

Best team driven by lady. Light carriage and pair of driving horses owned by Roscoe Tuel, driven by Mrs. I. F. Bowker, 1st prize.

Best decorated team. "Peppercorn" C. Helen Dexter, telephone 411, 1st prize.

Decorated team. Goddess of Liberty, Mrs. C. H. Laiter, 2nd prize.

Best local hit. Local Telephone Co. by Verne Ellingwood and Ellsworth Curtis, 1st prize.

Syracuse Plow Co. Decorated plow and pair of mules driven by crew, 2d prize.

The ball game in the afternoon between North Waterford and West Paris was won 5 to 2 in favor of West Paris.

100 yard dash—R. C. Chapman, 1st; James Farnum, 2d.

Obstacle race—Geo. Emmons, 1st; James Jones, 2d.

Tug of War—Prize divided between the Greenwood men and a team of sturdy Finlanders.

The next and last but not least the most laughable of the day's performance was the combination pig and pole contest. A peeled and wet slippery pole was extended on wooden horses well out from the edge of the river with a plump 60-pound pig in a box at one end of the pole. The contestants were required to start at the opposite end, walk the pole to the pig, take piggie under his arm and return.

There were ten contestants and each in turn got a ducking in Little Androscoggin either before reaching the pig or on the return with poor piggy squealing. His unwillingness was ducked also. Geo. Jones, who was first of the ten, led off a second time and exultingly bore the pig home claiming it as well earned.

The Bryant's Pond band, which was in attendance all day, gave an open air concert in the evening and much credit is due them for the excellent music.

The ball in the evening at Dunham's hall opened with a grand march of 60 couples. Bursas orchestra furnished the music. The dinner at L. O. O. F. hall, ice cream in the afternoon and supper were all well patronized, and the committee, Mrs. C. L. Marston chairman, will realize about $60 for the benefit of the Public Library. They feel well paid for the effort and pleased for the generous manner in which all the village people contributed food. Mrs. F. S. Farnum also gave her prize money of $5 to the library committee.

W. E. Ricker is helping S. T. White in the drug store.

Alfred Hoapen, who has just graduated from a fitting school in Michigan and is now in missionary work, came here from Boston to conduct the services. Mr. Hoapen spoke a few words in very good English at the close saying that his people liked this country very much and had come here for the purpose of making good citizens.
